

Are you a PhD candidate or Postdoc who is looking to explore career paths beyond academia? Are you interested in applying skills from your PhD training more broadly to other areas across the healthcare and life sciences industry?

IQVIA's Corporate & Portfolio Strategy team is hiring! We are looking to hire advanced degree holders (PhD) to join our team.

Who are we and what do we do?

We are world class strategy consultants, and we partner with the healthcare and life sciences industry to deliver high-quality, actionable strategic recommendations that will ultimately impact the lives of patients. Our clients range from small biotech to large pharma and our projects typically focus on applying a clinical and commercial lens to solving complex issues across the drug development life cycle in different therapeutic areas (including oncology).

What can we offer you?

We offer a highly collaborative environment and provide strong mentorship as you look to grow and develop your career. Additionally, we provide various resources and training to help you build out a variety of skills. Additionally, you will learn how to:

- Hone critical thinking skills by engaging on intellectually stimulating, challenging problems
- Work in a positive, stimulating environment with cohesive teamwork, collaboration and open communication
- Work with teams to deliver high quality recommendations to ensure clients are making informed decisions

Please note, we also provide visa sponsorship for qualified candidates.

How can you help support our team?

In this role, you will apply core skills (e.g., hypothesis-driven critical thinking / quantitative analysis / scientific background etc.) to a number of tasks

- Perform primary (through conversations with key opinion leaders) and secondary (desk research) analysis
- Create and use analytical tools to support decision making
- Develop materials to communicate findings and key insights
- Engage with clients/project team and meaningfully contribute to client meetings

We are currently taking applications for our offices located in New York, NY, Cambridge, MA and San Francisco, CA.

We look forward to reviewing your application!

Best,
IQVIA's Corporate and Strategy Portfolio Consulting Team