Honors:

Miranda Hawks has been selected to participate in the 2025 Female Founders Forum @ Emory (F3@E)! This prestigious program is part of Emory's efforts to support and elevate women scientists and clinicians in entrepreneurship and innovation.

The F3@E is an 11-month program designed with the schedules of busy professionals in mind offering one structured event each month many of which are virtual. These sessions focus on building skills in technology commercialization and startup formation while fostering strong networks and connections among participants.

Susan Brasher and Christina Calamaro were invited by the National Association of Pediatric Nurse Practitioners to construct a series of learning modules on Clinical Trials and disseminate nationally.

Brenda Baker and Nick Metheny were selected to sit on the newly reformed Georgia Maternal Mortality Review Committee.

Meredith Farmer has been accepted into the inaugural cohort for an Editorial Fellowship with the Journal of Perinatal and Neonatal Nursing. She is also currently a part of the WHEA Interprofessional Leadership and Professional Development Fellowship and the Center of Faculty Development and Excellence Course Design and Pedagogy Fellowship.
