

INSTITUTE FOR THE LIBERAL ARTS

EMPOWERING INTERDISCIPLINARY TEACHING & SCHOLARSHIP

A workshop for graduate students May 4-6, 2022

In this workshop, graduate students will learn core interdisciplinary pedagogical strategies for:

- designing and teaching classes that will help students see connections in new ways
- building critical thinking skills
- laying the foundations for new perspectives

For more details and to apply:

<http://ila.emory.edu/initiatives/graduate-workshop.html>

Participation in this workshop will enhance a student's own professional development, and provide opportunities to develop new interdisciplinary courses that will continue to enhance their ongoing trajectories.

Questions?

Contact Dr. Robyn Fivush, Director of the Institute for the Liberal Arts, at psyrf@emory.edu

Extended Deadline

Apply online by 5pm on March 25, 2022

Compensation

$500 stipend for attending workshop

Apply

Applications must be submitted online and include a CV, brief letter supporting your attendance from DGS
or faculty advisor,
and a personal
statement of interest (500 word max).

Co-sponsored by: The Laney Graduate School, the Center for Mind, Brain and Culture, the Fox Center for Humanistic Inquiry, CFDE Community Engaged Learning, and the Howard Hughes Medical Institute

www.ila.emory.edu

@emory.ila